TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR

DECATUR, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1899.

NUMBER 241

FILIPINO FREEDOM

Proclamation of President of the United States

TO THE PHILIPPINE PEOPLE

Instructions Cabled to Gen. Otis at Manila—Full Control of the Islands by American Forces to be Maintained.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—The following are extracts from the instructions sent to General Otis to be proclaimed to the Philippines as expressed to the purposes of the United States with respect to them:

"The destruction of the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Manila, followed by the reduction of the city and the surrender of the Spanish forces practically effected the conquest of the Philippine Islands, and the suspension of Spanish sovereignty therein, with the signature of the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain at Paris, and, as a result of the victories of American arms the future control and disposition of the government of the Philippines are ceded to the United States. In fulfillment of the rights of sovereignty thus acquired, and the responsible obligations of the government thus assumed, the actual occupation and administration of the entire group of Philippines becomes immediately necessary, and the military government heretofore maintained by the United States in the city, harbor and bay of Manila is to be extended with all possible despatch to the whole ceded territory."

Instructions then follow in regard to making known to the inhabitants that as the authority of the United States will be extended personal rights will be protected; that the Americans come as friends, not as invaders or conquerors.

"All persons who either by active or by honest submission co-operate with the government of the United States to give effect to these benefits and purposes will receive the reward of its support and protection. All others will be brought within the lawful rule we have assumed, with firmness, if need be, but without severity as far as it may be possible."

In conclusion the instructions read:

"In fulfillment of this high mission in supporting a temperate administration of affairs for the greatest good of the governed, there must be sedulously maintained the strong arm of authority to repress disturbance and overcome all obstacles to secure the best of all blessings, a good stable government for the people of the Philippines under the free flag of the United States." (Signed).

CARLISTS QUIET

All Danger of an Insurrection in Spain is at an End.

PARIS, January 4.—It was learned yesterday through a letter from a Polish friend at Warsaw that Don Jaime, the only son of Don Carlos, has quietly returned there and is doing duty with the cavalry regiment to which he is attached. This, together with the return of Don Carlos to his home, the Loreslan Palace at Venice, where he is no longer molested by the Italian police, indicates better than anything else that all danger of a Carlist insurrection is at an end, and that both Don Carlos and Don Jaime have given up every idea of moving in the matter for the present. As has been repeatedly stated, this has been the last chance of Don Carlos and his failure means practically an end to Carlism now and for all time.

OUR SICK SENATORS.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—Both senators were prevented from attending the session of the Senate today. Senator Cullom on Monday fell and Senator Mason because of illness. Mr. Cullom fell on the ice in going out Monday night to mail some letters and was so badly bruised that he has since been confined to his bed. It was at first thought that he had broken some bones, but the attending physician says that he escaped this injury. Mr. Mason has been quite ill from an attack of quincy and complications, but his condition is improved.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

SPRINGFIELD, July 5.—The legislature today decided to adjourn to next Tuesday. There will be no business of importance until the committees are appointed, and the next week or ten days will be devoted to making up the committees. The two houses in joint session this morning canvassed the vote for state officers. It was a mere formality.

A TIE VOTE

The Supervisors of Douglas County Cannot Agree.

TUSCOLA, ILL., January 5.—The supervisors of Douglas county are trying to appoint a superintendent of schools to succeed Mr. Wells, who was elected November 8 and killed in a railroad wreck, after being in office two weeks. The board stands five Republicans and five Democrats, and was in session all last week without the least indication of a choice, and convened again yesterday. The law says they must appoint, so there they are.

$6,000,000 SALE.

CHICAGO, January 5.—The Metropolitan Elevated road was sold yesterday by Master in Chancery Sherman for $6,000,000. The road was bought by Fred P. Olcott of New York, chairman of the reorganization committee, in the interest of those security holders who have deposited their stocks and bonds with the reorganization committee under the terms of the agreement put out some time ago.

HELD BACK

General Wilson's Army Corps May Not Go to Cuba.

MAON, GA., January 5.—General Wilson, commanding the 1st corps, who was ordered to depart for Cuba, is still here, having received an order countermanding previous instructions. No orders have come in regard to moving the troops and the men are beginning to think that they will remain here all winter.

WHISTLED TILL HE DIED.

BUFFALO, N. Y., January 4.—Charles Momborger, who was found lying by the New York Central tracks last Friday, with his skull fractured, is dead. On the evening that he received his injuries, Momborger began to whistle, though he was wholly unconscious, and remained so to the last. He whistled all sorts of tunes without cessation for 95 hours and never ceased until shortly before he died.

COLDER IN ALASKA.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 5.—Advices from Alaska say that very severe weather is experienced on the Pass. Lake Bennett has begun to freeze over.

INDIANS PARDONED.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—The president has pardoned 12 of the Leech lake Indians sentenced for various terms of imprisonment and fined for resisting an officer in making arrests, which caused the uprising in Minnesota last fall.

THE WEATHER.

CHICAGO, January 5.—Illinois: Partly cloudy tonight with rain or snow in the south; Friday partly cloudy with snow or rain, warmer north winds, shifting to northeasterly.

STILL NO CHANGE.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—There is no material change in Representative Dingley's condition this morning.

STATEDINNER

First Formal Treat of the Season

GIVEN AT THE WHITE HOUSE

By President and Mrs. McKinley—Elaborate Decorations in Public Portions of the Mansion—The Guests.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—The first formal state dinner of the season at the white house took place last night, when the President and Mrs. McKinley entertained the cabinet. The public portions of the mansion had been decorated in an elaborate manner usual on such occasions, and every available space was made fragrant and beautiful by the use of flowers from the white house conservatory.

Owing to the large number of guests the table was set in the main corridor and with its lighted candelabra and floral decorations presented a handsome appearance. There were three center-pieces of bride's roses, with a ground work of maiden-hair fern, partly concealed in which were colored incandescent lights. Lady slipper orchids were also in abundance, while at the plate of each guest was a boutonniere of carnations. Graceful palms were set in appropriate places around the room, while the ceiling and the walls were hung with southern smilax. In the east room there was a profusion of cut flowers, potted plants and trailing ferns.

Contrary to the custom heretofore observed, the marine band occupied a place in the conservatory, where the musical effects were better than from the position in the vestibule, which it has occupied on all previous state functions. The guests and those invited to meet them were:

Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay, Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Gage, Representative Bay, Representative Sherman, Representative Richardson, General and Mrs. Miles, Adjutant General Corbin, General and Mrs. John M. Wilson, General and Mrs. Greely, Admiral and Mrs. Seward, James A. Gary and Mrs. Gary of Baltimore, Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Bailey of Philadelphia, Mrs. Mabel McKinley, Miss Mary McWilliams of Ohio, Miss Mary Barber, Solicitor General and Mrs. Richards, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Allen, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Hill, Charles G. Dawes and Mrs. Dawes, Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. Heath, Assistant Secretary Prudden, James McKinley, Secretary of War and Mrs. Alger, Attorney General and Mrs. Griggs, Postmaster General and Mrs. Smith, Secretary of the Navy and Miss Long, the secretary of the interior, Secretary of Agriculture and Miss Wilson, Secretary Porter and Mrs. Porter, Senator Allison, Senator and Mrs. Harris, Senator and Mrs. McMillan, Senator and Mrs. Fairbanks, Senator and Mrs. Mason, Senator Clay, Senator and Mrs. Gorman, Representative and Mrs. Hepburn, Representative Pitney, Representative Burton (Ohio), Representative Cousins, James Barber.

COL. W. J. BRYAN

Captures the Illinois Democratic State Central Committee.

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 4.—The Democratic state central committee last night declared itself for the Chicago platform and for William J. Bryan. Bryan was present and made an address, thanking the committee for the personal compliment and congratulating the organization on its declaration in favor of free and unlimited coinage. The adoption of the resolutions, endorsing silver and Bryan by a unanimous vote, was something of a surprise, for it was expected that several members of the committee with leanings to the gold standard would oppose any declaration in favor of the platform of '96.

C. K. Ladd, proxy for B. T. Cable, who is generally regarded as a strong anti-silver man, voted with the majority, and stated that he did so at the request of Cable.

Aside from a declaration of the party policy, the meeting was of interest, because of the contest concerning its organization between the Mayor Harrison and ex-Gov. Altgeld factions. The Harrison men elected their candidates. Dr. Walter Watson, of Mt. Vernon, being chosen state chairman, and Fred Eldred, of Chicago, secretary.

ALL MAY FIGHT

Sensational Report to the Filipino Junta at Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—An official telegram received by the Filipino Junta here, dated Manila, Jan. 4, says that Aguinaldo has gone to Iloilo at the request of the insurgents, there to place himself at their head with a view of possible fighting with the Americans.

The dispatch also gives the names of the new Filipino cabinet, nearly every member being pledged, according to these advices, to resist American occupation.

WILL YOU GO?

International Exposition in 1901 to be Held at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 5.—At a meeting of citizens today it was decided to hold an international exposition in San Francisco in 1901, opening in June. An appropriation will be asked from the city, state and nation.

CHANGE OF FEELING.

CARLINVILLE, ILL., January 5.—The Coal Miners' union in this city gave the Carlinville Coal company a vote of thanks yesterday for the work done in rescuing the miners during the recent mine fire, and offered them two days' work from each of the 150 men in clearing up the debris and preparing for the new buildings. There was a strike on only last week, and the action has caused much favorable comment, and will result in great good between the miners and operators.

SPANISH WAR PENSION.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—A pension of $39 per month was yesterday granted to Mrs. Eliza B. Haskell, widow of Brig.-Gen. Joseph L. Haskell, who was wounded in the battle of El Caney in July and died therefrom in this country September 16.

NEW PASTOR AT CLINTON.

CLINTON, ILL., January 5.—The Universalist society has engaged Rev. C. W. Gossow of Oshkosh, Wis., to be their pastor for the ensuing year. Mr. Gossow will move his family here at once and be ready for active work about the 1st of February.

HOEL SALE.

LITCHFIELD, ILL., January 5.—The Hotel Litchfield changed hands this afternoon. A. L. Weigand, the retiring proprietor sold the hotel to Messrs. White and Henley. Mr. White was formerly proprietor of the Arlington house in Chicago.

SUDDEN DEATH

A Patriotic Taylorville Lady Dies in a Store.

TAYLORVILLE, ILL., January 5.—Mrs. Almon Barnes, for many years a respected resident of Taylorville, died at 6.45 o'clock last evening in the hardware store of E. A. Fish. Heart failure is assigned as the cause of her sudden demise. In company with her husband, Mrs.

Barnes was on her way to attend an installation of officers of the Taylorville Woman's Relief Corps, of which organization she was a prominent and active member. Shortly before reaching the hardware store, Mrs. Barnes suddenly became violently ill. She was helped to the store by Mr. Barnes and was placed in a chair while her husband went for medical attendance.

Soon after Mr. Barnes left the store J. F. Henson, a clerk, heard the woman moaning and went to her assistance. She was in a paroxysm of pain and it required the full strength of the man to hold her in her chair. When Mr. Barnes returned with a physician the woman's clothes were loosened and she was laid on a counter where she expired a few moments later. Soon after death the body was conveyed to the family residence and her son, Frank Barnes, postmaster at Clarksville, was notified. Mrs. Barnes was about 55 years old and had lived in Taylorville nearly 20 years. Her husband and one son survive her.

PINGREE'S MESSAGE

The Governor of Michigan to the Legislature.

HE IS NOT FOR EXPANSION

Against the Annexation of the Philippines—Favors Government Ownership of Railroads—On Direct Vote.

LANSING, MICH., January 5.—Hazen S. Pingree, Republican governor, in his message to the legislature today, congratulated the state on the progress and era of prosperity of the country, attending the opening of the session. Equal taxation is treated at length. He argues that railroads and other corporations should be brought under the general tax law, instead of being assessed upon the gross earnings as at present, recommends a moderate income tax upon incomes above $1000 a year; wants national legislation to regulate trusts, finds fault with the present national administration, saying that the "war closed the clamor of unscrupulous press with the co-operation of equally unscrupulous politicians; declares decided opposition to the annexation of the Philippines; favors the public ownership of railroads, and recommends that a law be passed providing that all candidates for each elective office from governor down to ward officers be nominated by a direct vote of the electors.

SPARROW KILLING.

There are 8,871 Less in the City Than Existed Dec. 1

City Clerk Hays is experiencing a lull in the sparrow business. But very few sparrows have been turned in since the beginning of the year. Since December 1 there have been 8,711 sparrows turned in at the city clerk's office, but this is practically a drop in the bucket when the large number of sparrows that are still at large in the city are considered. However, in this case every drop helps and the 9000 less will probably make considerable difference in the ultimate results.

There has been $176 paid out at the rate of two cents apiece for the heads. Some of the industrious boys at times bring in 150 and 165 heads at one time. They walk in, make their business known, are given a flat board by the clerk on which they are told to count out the heads. Generally they are correct in their count and after they have signed their name to the receipt and received the money the heads are carried to the grate and crumpled.

Fahrnkopf-Hagarty.

Miss Anna Hagarty and Harry Fahrnkopf were married by Rev. Father Murphy at his residence at 6.30 last evening. The couple were attended by Mr. Chas. and Miss Keating. The groom is one of the firm of Fahrnkopf Bros., liquor dealers on Lincoln square. They will reside with the bride's mother on East Eldorado street for the present.

NEW BILLS IN THE SENATE

Appropriation of $100,000 for the Pay of Employees of the 41st Assembly—Other New Measures.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., January 5.—The House members selected seats by lot this morning. Speaker Sherman announced the committee on elections and the House adjourned until Tuesday afternoon.

SENATE.

The secretary of state reported election contents in the 1st and 18th senatorial districts, referred to the committee on elections. Among the bills introduced was one for an appropriation of $100,000 to pay the employees of the 41st General Assembly, $18,000 for incidental expenses; $4850 for the purchase of new carpets for the House and Senate chambers; repealing the present garnishment law and making an exemption of $50 in the case of the head of a family. The bill also provides that unmarried men shall have an exemption of $8 a week. Adjourned to Tuesday.

THE COMMITTEES.

A majority of the committee of the Senate, which was appointed to select the standing committees of that body, will hold their first business meeting tomorrow. Campbell, one of the leaders of the majority faction, stated that no agreement concerning chairmanships had been made. The committee business is still an open question, as few of the senators interested have expressed preferences.

CONGRESS

Circuit Judgeship Place for Judge Day—The Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—The House under a special order adopted before the holidays devoted today to bills presented by the judiciary committee. The bills were first considered in committee of the whole. The first bill was to create an additional circuit judge in the sixth circuit. It is this judgeship with which rumor has connected the name of ex-Secretary of State Day. After a short debate it was laid aside with favorable recommendation.

SENATE.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts gave notice that on next Monday he would address the Senate on the resolution offered by Senator Vest relating to the acquisition of foreign territory. United States, his address in reply to that delivered by Senator Platt of Connecticut on the holiday recess. Senator Lodge of Louisiana announced that he would address the Senate tomorrow on the Vest resolution.

WRITES

to Samuel C. Allen id This e-on.
S. H. BOWYER

in Eloquent Terms of the Example of the Life of the Deceased — Internment in Greenwood.

The funeral of the late Samuel C. Allen was held from the First Baptist church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. S. H. Bowyer, who spoke in an eloquent strain of the life and works of the deceased and the part he had played in laying the foundation of the commonwealth of the community.

A quartette composed of Mrs. Gus Wilmoth, Miss Sallie Scruggs and Messrs. Lindamood and Kaylor, sang "Come Unto Me," "We Shall Meet Beyond the River," "Some Sweet Day" and "The Christian's Good-night." There were a number of beautiful floral offerings. The audience that assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to the life of a man who had figured prominently in the surroundings of the church was composed largely of the older members of the church and community. Among the bowed heads the gray ones predominated, there being but very few but that had known Mr. Allen during their entire lifetime.

A year ago Mr. Allen in anticipation of his early death wrote Rev. S. H. Bowyer a letter in which he gave many interesting details relating to his life. This letter was read by the minister as an obituary, preceding the service. Mr. Allen referred to his work in the Baptist church. He was a charter member, the first clerk of the church, the first janitor of the church, having given five years of his service in this capacity free of charge. It was also found that he had never played a game of cards, never used tobacco in any form, never attended a performance at the theatre, never bet on a horse race, never been inside of a saloon and was not a member of any secret organization.

THE SERMON.

Rev. Mr. Bowyer in his funeral oration said in part:
"Death is a condition, a fact. It is not to be changed so long as the race continues. Whatever may have been the causes which produced this condition or the results to be produced by it, we yet stand before the unalterable fact and should regulate our conduct accordingly."

"In Hebrews 9:27 we have a clear and unqualified statement of the truth just presented. 'It is appointed unto man once to die and after that, the judgment.'

"Man, being an intelligent being is not only called upon to recognize the fact, but urged to regulate his conduct accordingly. Let him keep in mind the uncertainties of life. The voice of the centuries has taken up the word of Solomon and cried aloud, 'Boast not thyself of tomorrow: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.'

"When King Hezekiah was sick God's prophet came to him and said, 'Set thine house in order, for thou shalt die and not live.' Let the exhortation to this king strike a responsive chord in every heart today. 'Set thine house in order.' That the one who lies before us today had done this, the deeds and acts of his life bear abundant testimony. His very life and death become a new voice calling unto us to be ready."

The question 'How?' to himself to some. How may I prepare myself for the other world and what action to be made. The entire question is given by Moses, when he said, 'So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom (religion).' He knew the secrets of life as a preparation for death in the life of God. 'So teach us, the great teacher, is to instruct us in these great experiences of the facts of the present and the Lord all exhort us to get into which the fear of the beginning. The strength, and success of any life lies in its having received Divine aid and made practical application of the principles thus taught. He was one characteristic more than others in the life of Allen it was his childlike faith in the word of the Lord. Hence it was he numbered his days, counted each one as a gift from God, to be for God."

The interment was in Greenwood cemetery. The pall bearers were E. G. Gorman, G. M. Wood, Robert Montgomery, C. L. Hovey, Edwin Cook and J. H. Goussard.

BLOODTHIRSTY

Grover Cleveland Favors Suppressing Troublesome Filipinos by Slaughter.

PRINCETON, N. J., January 5.—Ex-President Cleveland in reply to the request of a representative of the Associated Press for an expression on the question of expansion said: "I don't care to repeat my views concerning the prevailing epidemic of imperialism and territorial expansion." Assuming, however, that his ideas are antiquated and unsuited for those progressive days, he says the remedy for controlling the natives of our new possessions is obviously simple. "The misguided inhabitants of our new territory who prefer something different from the plan for their control which we propose or who oppose our designs in their behalf should be slaughtered. The killing of natives has been a feature of expansion since expansion began, and our imperialism enthusiasm shouldn't be checked by the prospective necessity of destroying a few thousand Filipinos."

THE SICK.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon it was announced by the doctors that Representative Dinghy is very much better and that it is likely he will improve.

Ex-Secretary of State Foster was somewhat worse today.

Wayne MacVough is steadily improving.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, January 5.—The Senate today passed a resolution directing that the foreign relations committee investigate the status of claims of the United States citizens against Spain.

The Nicaragua canal bill came up. Senator Caffery made a speech on the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

SPAIN TO RIOS

Anxious for the Safety of Spanish
Prisoners in the Philippines.

MADRID, January 5.—The government has telegraphed the Spanish naval commander at Manila to send two gunboats to Balabac, on the Philippine Island and seek Spanish prisoners. The government also requested General Rios to take further steps to obtain the release of the Spanish prisoners and to remind the rebels that the Spanish government will release deposed Filipinos.

Offices Remodeled.

The offices of the Mueller Manufacturing company are being overhauled and remodeled. All the furniture has been moved upstairs and the decorators are in possession. The last large office room will be fitted up with shelves for a sample, or exhibition room, and the two smaller offices on the ground floor will be used as private offices. The change will be a decidedly advantageous one.

Indian Native Cavalry.

When a man wishes to enlist in a saddle cavalry regiment he must provide himself with a horse, saddle, a lance (if his regiment are lancers), a sword, his uniform, and his transport, or else he must be employed as a rider by some other person who is the happy possessor of all these necessities. In the former case he is called a saddler, or the owner of an assam, and in the latter case a bargair, and his employer his saddler. A saddler draws pay for his assam and also for his own services. Thus, if a man owns two assams, he draws two lots of horse pay and one lot of pay for himself, a corresponding amount to this last being paid to the man who rides his second horse—that is to say, to his bargair. In some regiments, and comparatively recently, it was quite usual for one man to own ten or twelve assams, or even an entire troop. More than this, it was not unusual for an assam to be left by will to a man's wife or infant child, in which case the executors employed a substitute (was kidnap) to ride for the woman or child, thus enabling the owner to draw horse pay. This practice is still common in some native Hindustani states.—N. Y. Times

DREW A BEAD ON ROOSEVELT.

A Crack Marksman of the Ninth Regular Infantry Came Near Making a Mistake.

Among the United States regulars whose terms of enlistment expired during the Santiago campaign, and who quit the service upon returning to this country, was a man of the Ninth Infantry known to the members of the regiment as Johnson, of Maryland. He was a tall, lanky southerner, and the pride of the Ninth, because of his marksmanship, which was so true that Johnson was head and shoulders over all the others in handling a Krag-Jorgensen. He appeared to be the most contented man in Uncle Sam's service, and often spoke of resigning until an event occurred just before the close of the first day's fighting at San Juan, which caused him to change his mind, and he vowed never to handle a gun again. He would never speak of it to his comrades, but they all knew why he quit, and although they argued and tried to persuade him to remain, Johnson only shook his head and said: "No, boys, I can't stay with you longer. I'd like to, but don't ask me again. I can't do it. I must get out."

One of the members of Johnson's company tells the story of what caused the Ninth to lose its crack shot.

"We had been engaged in the hottest kind of work for some hours, and after taking the first line of Spanish trenches we were fixing them up for our own use. The Spaniards had been driven back, but their sharpshooters were still at it, picking off our men here and there. The Mauser bullets were whizzing around us pretty lively and I noticed that Johnson was getting more and more impatient every minute and acting as if he was just itching to get at those Spanish sharpshooters, and finally he turned to me and in his drawing tone said:

"Say, it's tough we can't get a chance at them."

"He soon got his chance, however, for just as dusk began to prevail, and a dozen of us to advance a short distance ahead and well beyond the trench our forces had captured. When we arrived on the spot we were halted on the edge of a dense wood. Just ahead of us was an open space of clear ground and on the other side of that a low thick brush, which extended as far as I could see.

"Just before night came on we received our final orders, which were to pay particular attention to the brush just ahead of us on the other side of the clearing, and to shoot at the first head we saw. We had settled down to our tireless occupation of watching and waiting, but always prepared for any thing, and Johnson and I were talking in low tones of the day's fighting we had just passed through, when we both heard the sound of a dry twig breaking. We were alert in an instant, and all the men in our line were looking straight ahead with pieces half raised, ready for use. As I looked at Johnson I could see him smile, apparently with the hope of a chance to shoot. The sound repeated itself, this time a little nearer, but still quite indistinct. An instant later we again heard it, and it sounded directly ahead of Johnson and me, and was beyond a doubt a cautious tread, but too heavy for a man. While we waited in breathless silence for something to happen we again heard the cautious tread, now quite plain. It was the tread of a horse and was just ahead of us. Suddenly as the tread became plainer, a dark object appeared just above the top of the brush. Dozens of guns were raised, but Johnson whispered:

"I've got him."

"He crawled a few paces forward and we saw him raise his gun, his fingers nervously working on the trigger. At that instant the brush parted and a horse and rider stepped out. We saw Johnson stretch out his piece and we expected to see a flash, but just then the rider turned in his saddle and by the dim light from the dull red glow that still tinged the sky we saw a pair of eyeglasses flash. We all knew at once who it was, but not one of us spoke. We were probably too horrified, and before I could say a word Johnson turned to me and with a look on his face I shall never forget exclaimed, in a hoarse voice:

"My God, Ben, Roosevelt! And I nearly picked him!"

"With this he threw his gun from him and just sat there and stared at the place in the brush where Col. Roosevelt and his horse had entered. The latter, when he heard the voices of our men, came straight to us, and appeared surprised to find us so far beyond the trench. When he heard of the orders about shooting at the first head we saw he smiled and said:

"That is the first I've heard of the orders. They were probably issued while I was away on a little reconnoitering on my own hook."

"He spoke cheerfully to the men about and passed on, little thinking how near he was to death a few minutes before. The more we thought of it after he passed the more in the dumps we got, for every one of us loved the color of the rough riders.

"We were relieved shortly afterward, and as we marched back in silence Johnson walked with bowed head and none of us spoke to him, for we imagined that he felt as if he would like to be alone. From that day Johnson showed a restlessness that was new to him, and I never saw him so happy as the day he stepped aboard the transport bound for home.

"I don't know whether any word of the affair ever reached Col. Roosevelt's ears, but it was a mighty narrow escape, and I tell you that I would rather have 25 Spaniards with a bead on me at 100 yards than for Johnson to pick me out for a target at 200 yards. In the first case you would have a good chance of escaping, Alas, but with Johnson shooting it was a clear case of cushing in your chips."—N. Y. Sun

IN THE U. S. COURT

Manager Wilcoxon Indicted at Springfield

FOR VIOLATING FEDERAL LAW

Full Hearing on the Accusation to be Had—Arrest of the Accused

Who is Released Under Bond.

Shortly after 4 o'clock last evening Captain Flinn, deputy United States marshal from the district federal court at Springfield, arrived in the city with a warrant for the arrest of Charles N. Wilcoxon, who since June 8 last has been the manager of the City Electric Railway company, having succeeded W. L. Ferguson, who had resigned to accept what he previously to June thought to be a better job at Richmond, Ind. The arrest of Mr. Wilcoxon was quietly effected at the transfer station at about 5 o'clock and at 7:40 p. m. officer and prisoner left for Springfield. The indictment specifies that Wilcoxon is guilty of fraudulent use of the United States mail, the punishment for which offense on conviction is a heavy fine or imprisonment. It is understood now that there will be a full hearing of the case in the court at Springfield, the time for the trial to be fixed by the presiding judge at the convenience of Hon. J. O. Humphrey, United States district attorney.

There were a large number of witnesses before the grand jury at Springfield yesterday, giving statements in the case. Among the number were W. L. Ferguson of Decatur, Inspector Laughlin of the postoffice department, who has been working on the case for several months; W. A. Resack of Muncie, Ind., a printer, who printed letter heads for Wilcoxon; a young lady stenographer in the mayor's office at Richmond, Ind., who it is claimed wrote dictated letters for Wilcoxon addressed to Ferguson, and also two young ladies from Detroit, Mich., who it is said also wrote letters for Wilcoxon.

WILCOXON'S ALLEGED SCHEME.
Readers of the Republican are familiar with most of the details attending the engagement of Mr. Wilcoxon as manager of the railway company and they are also have knowledge of the fact that Mr. Ferguson failed to secure the expected managerial position at Richmond. The story in condensed form is thus given out at Springfield by the federal authorities: "Springfield, Ill., January 4.—C. N. Wilcoxon of Decatur was today indicted by the United States grand jury on a charge of using the mails for purposes to defraud. Wilcoxon was formerly superintendent of the street railway line of Muncie, Ind., but since last June he has held this position with the Decatur Street Railway company. It is charged in the indictment that he made false representations through the mails to secure this position.

W. L. Ferguson of Decatur, conveyed the information that led to the finding of the indictment. It was he who was induced by the representations made by Wilcoxon to give up his position as superintendent of the Decatur Street Railway company, thinking that he had a better position with a company known as the Richmond-Eaton Traction company of Richmond, Ind. When Ferguson went to Richmond he found that no such company existed. Wilcoxon had previously resigned from the Muncie Street Railway company, and when he heard that Ferguson had gone to Richmond he went to Decatur and got the position. Wilcoxon wrote to the management of the Decatur Street Railway company last May and asked for a position. They replied that there was no vacancy then, but if one should occur they would consider his request. Wilcoxon, it is charged, then formed a scheme to get the position. He had letter heads printed bearing the name of the Richmond-Eaton Traction company, and had a list of officers of the firm printed. On this paper he wrote to Ferguson and represented that the company was going to build a line from Richmond to Eaton and he wanted Ferguson to superintend the work. Wilcoxon offered Ferguson a yearly salary of $1800.

Ferguson was dissatisfied with the Decatur work and being offered $300 a year more than he was getting he accepted the position. He went on to Richmond, and there learned that he had been duped, as no such company existed. Meanwhile Wilcoxon left Muncie and accepted Ferguson's position at Decatur.

Ferguson reported the matter to the postal authorities, and since last June they have been working on the case. The letters written to Ferguson were signed by John M. Case, president of the fake company. Postoffice Inspector Laughlin several days ago got track of Wilcoxon and the indictment followed. Several stenographers from Muncie and Richmond testified before the grand jury that they had written letters for a man named Case to Ferguson.

FERGUSON HOME.

Mr. Ferguson returned from Springfield last night and is at his place of business on East Eldorado street. He has but little to say in reference to the arrest of Wilcoxon. He states that the whole affair has been thoroughly investigated and that so far as he is concerned he is convinced of Wilcoxon's guilt in practicing the fraud with the aid of the mails by which he was caused to resign his place as manager of the Decatur Street Railway company. He denies that there are any such persons as John M. Case, E. N. Fisher and R. L. Fisher, in existence, connected in any capacity with the Richmond-Eaton Traction company. Ferguson received a batch of letters from the alleged mythical

John M. Case, and since he learned that he had been fooled he has tried in vain to locate the party. Until Case is produced he will always contend that Wilcoxon is Case. Some days ago Mr. Ferguson brought suit in court against Wilcoxon for $1200, salary he claims for eight months' time lost by being enured out of his place as manager of the street car line.

WILCOXON'S MANAGEMENT.

Since coming to Decatur Mr. Wilcoxon has succeeded in making many friends. He took hold of the company property like a man of experience and introduced systematic details. Mr. Wilcoxon's home is on West Main street. He has a wife, a daughter and a son. Until a hearing of the case is had there will be a suspension of judgment.

WILL GIVE BAIL.

The amount of Mr. Wilcoxon's bond to await trial is not known. Mr. Wilcoxon was at the Leland hotel, at Springfield, at 11 a. m. today, waiting for the arrival of bondsmen. He would not talk about the case. Attorney LeForgee is at Springfield looking after the interests of Mr. Wilcoxon. No doubt Mr. Wilcoxon will succeed in giving bail and arrive home this evening.

DECATUR STAGE.

Sousa's "Bride Elect" January 9th

Will be a Fine Opera.

MONDAY NIGHT.

Harry Luckstone, one of the comedians in Sousa's new comic opera, "The Bride Elect," which comes to the opera house on January 9 at Decatur, is an inveterate gambler in land values. He is utterly unable to resist anything that looks like a good real estate speculation, and the consequence is that he is loaded up with lots representing nearly all the states and territories in the union. About two years ago, Harry struck a boom town way out beyond the Rocky Mountains. He had been told of the fabulous fortunes that had been made in local real estate, and determined to get his shares. He was met at the station by a typical boomer, who drove buckboard and pair, and was taken to see the most eligible site in town. The boomer showed him a lot on the side of the steep hill, and gave a long oration about its beautiful view, claiming that it would soon triple in value. Harry looked at it and said: "Why that lot of land is set up edgeways. You never could build a house there, and you couldn't reach it unless you used a balloon, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll buy that lot of land, if you will mention one single advantage that it has." The boomer spluttered, grow red in the face, and then finally roared: "Advantage! Great Scott, man! look at its drainage!"

"THE GAY MATINEE GIRL."

Manager Edwin P. Hilton, so well known as handling only the highest class of attractions, has added a third star to his splendid company in last season's big success "The Gay Matinee Girl" by engaging Miss Mattie Vickers to appear as "the Girl." Monroe and Hart made a lasting impression on the public; the entire production was an emphatic hit but the coming season will surpass all records. At the Grand January 12.

A SEASIDE EXPERIENCE.

Little Quiet Joke on the Family.

While we were at the seaside last summer, I sprang a little experiment on my family. I noticed that husband and the children were all lacking in energy and go, and something seemed wrong with them.

We had been using coffee every morning and it gradually dawned upon me that perhaps this was the cause.

Without saying anything, I bought a package of the Postum Food Coffee and having been warned to look out and see that it was properly made, I gave my own special attention to it. For about a week we used it and not one of the family knew but what they were drinking the best coffee. When I finally told them that it was Postum my husband laughed and said, "Let us continue on the Postum. I have been feeling very much better for the past week and didn't exactly know why." The difference in the whole family is very marked, and you can imagine I can recommend Postum with good grace and much pleasure. Mrs. Alice E. Scarlett, Yolo Co., Cal.

Gathering of the Decatur

DECEMBER 241

CALL ISSUED

To Confer About Erecting

to be Used for Conventions

Exhibits and Big Meetings.

Mayor Taylor has issued a call to the business men of the city and all citizens who are interested in the matter to meet at the rooms of the Decatur club this evening to discuss the plans for the erection of a coliseum in this city in the near future. The matter has been pretty thoroughly discussed in the business circles of the city in the past 30 days and there is no doubt that the majority of the business men are in favor of the plan.

The plan so far as it has gone is to organize a stock company for the purpose of purchasing the ground and erecting the building. The company would not expect to receive any direct benefits from the investment but indirectly profits will surely come in the added advantage of being able to offer inducements to large gatherings in the city. In a talk with Mayor Taylor this morning he said that the amount of the shares had not, of course, been settled, but a number of business men had signified their willingness to take five shares at $100 per share. Shares at $100 will scarcely be popular, one-half or even one-fourth share could be taken, but it is thought best to put them as low as $10 or even $5. Those who want to invest $500 in the building can take as many shares as they like and thus secure the amount.

It is thought the building will cost about $25,000, including the ground and general equipments. The dimensions will be about 100 by 80 feet. As to equipment and general details, they will come later when the subscriptions have been received and the enterprise fairly started.

Mayor Taylor said that in the past year he had seen in many instances where the city would have profited by having a building of this sort. The political campaign is approaching and it will be necessary to have a building in which to hold the political meetings. An annual festival of some sort has been pointed out as a positive necessity to attract crowds to the city and stimulate energy. It cannot be safely planned until there is a building erected for the express purpose of accommodating gatherings of this sort.

The company will scarcely be organized tonight. A committee will be appointed to canvass the situation and when the public sentiment is learned definite steps will be taken at once. Mr. Bernard Bradley said: "We expect to organize a company to carry out the building of a coliseum and we expect to build this coliseum by popular subscription to stock without any promise of direct profit to the stockholders. To succeed we must have the co-operation of all citizens of the town. I feel satisfied that all they want is the opportunity. Once started we expect to put it into the hands of people who will positively carry it out."

Mr. Will Linn said: "We want a large building for the purpose of attracting large gatherings to the city. Instead of putting the shares at $100 or even $50 and one-half and one-fourth shares being taken, I think they should be put at a figure low enough for everyone to become a stockholder who is so inclined. We want all the money we can get and the more we can secure the better."

Messrs. L. L. Burrows, Will Linn, Mayor Taylor and Bernard Bradley were all particular to emphasize the fact that the building should in any way considered as a loan to the opera house. It will, of course, to have a platform, but an equipped platform of the question and it is used for purposes that will not interfere with the business of the opera house.

A Narrow Escape. Investigator E. Hart, of Groton, S. D., with a bad cold which set in during a rough set in and daily consumption. Poor doctoring, saying, I could live but time. I gave myself up for determined if I could not stay friends on earth, I would send ones above. My husband went to get Dr. King's New Life for Consumption, Coughs and Asthma. He gave it a trial, took in all eight. It has cured me, and thank God saved and now a well and happy woman. Trial bottles 10c, at John King's and C. F. Shilling's drug stores.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1899.

A LOOK AHEAD.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A little less than a year and a half ago Capt. A. T. Mahan published in one of the magazines an article on the probable tendencies of international civilization in the 20th century, which is worth recalling to show the rapid course of events in the year 1898, and also to show that questions of expansion were then only debated as a certainty of the coming years. The subject ripened a great deal faster than Capt. Mahan anticipated, but he saw the trend as clearly as the large majority of Americans see it now. He spoke of "a revived outward impulse," a world-wide desire for new outlets, new territory and new markets, a tendency which statesmen would guide rather than control. The military spirit was praised in relation to preparedness and for representing more than ever before the will of nations rather than the purpose of rulers. With the outposts of Christian civilization on our Pacific coast the writer contended that the United States would see and feel its share of the common responsibility.

The test seemed a long way off at that moment. But in less than 10 months the Philippines were held by our fleet. Without mentioning them by name, Captain Mahan spoke regretfully of the fact that the Spanish colonies in the West Indies were in hands "which not only never have given, but to all appearance never can give, the development which is required by the general interest." All that is radically changed. Another topic touched on was the necessity some day of annexing Hawaii and of controlling in the West Indies the approaches to the Nicaragua canal. But Captain Mahan made one mistake. He deferred all this to the 20th century. He will have to try again. It has slipped into the 19th. Much may happen in a few months in those times. The expansion foreseen in the dim distance arrived regardless of prophet or diplomat, yet in no respect, up to date, has the country proved ungrateful to it.

PENSION MOB.

The Decatur Review yesterday morning took another fling at the veterans of the union army and their families, who are pensioners. It said: "This is pension day and the country and circuit clerks are expecting the usual big mob of pensioners with papers to be certified to."

"Mob of pensioners." Mob is defined as a tumultuous crowd. Think of it! That men who served their country as soldiers; that men who received wounds on the battlefield or were injured otherwise in the tumult of battle; that widows, whose husbands gave up their lives in the conflict to determine whether this should continue as one government or be rent in twain; that the orphans of deceased soldiers—children under 16 years of age; that the Mexican war veterans or the widows of those veterans, at such time as this, when men of all shades of opinion, in the face of the magnificent record just made by our army and navy, are enjoined to restrain their prejudices and stand as one common people for the highest and most solid patriotism, should be characterized as a mob invading the offices of the country and circuit clerk to exact their pension vouchers. The pensioner who, at the risk of his life, and bearing his flag and his country, sought to destroy the rebellion by the patriots of the and whose wife and sons have been justly proud of his record he made, goes on that his family has read that he is, after all, only a pensioner, and finds them wondering that service of which he has been proud was honorable pension. It is distressing to state such a situation. It is cruel to characterize such a mob.

In the war there were bitter and capable partisans who were upholding an administration which they did not happen to be fond of, men who characterized soldiers as "Lincoln huns" and "Lincoln dogs," who have forged about their necks banners bearing the words, "I am Lincoln's Dog," and who rejoiced in the federal army was destroyed and those were bitter days when many sons were arrayed against fathers and fathers against sons when men were mad and with prejudice and hate, when indignation they could have seen destroyed, rather than to the domination of the opposition. Everybody seems anxious that these things have passed and that prejudice has yielded to the peace and the loyalty and patriotism of Mr. Lincoln, and the fact that the result of the war was the preservation of the union, if these people are not hypocritical, that prejudice against the union soldiers who saved the union should still continue to burn so intensely that in a loyal community the pensioners are referred to as a mob.

It is doubtful whether in any state in the south a half dozen papers could be found who would print such a thing. Most of them know what it means to be a soldier, what hardships and sacrifices and trying hours were the lot of the man behind the gun. Those who can be guilty of referring to pensioners as a mob surely do not appreciate what it is to place one's self voluntarily outside the bounds of liberty as a soldier, where he has no other alternative but to obey orders even when orders may mean death and injury or disease that liberty might be perpetuated to others. If honest men could realize these things pensioners would never be referred to as a mob. The union soldier of the sixties did not fight for themselves alone. They fought for every one both north and south, who now enjoys the country with only one flag strong and united. Had it not been for the sacrifice of those men the country would today be divided and the necessary expenditures to maintain two standing armies and the necessary defenses on the borders and on the coasts would cost every year ten times what is now paid out for pensions and yet outside of all this, under the most liberal pension laws the soldier who stood for his country can never be repaid in dollars and cents in full for the sacrifices he made for the entire nation and it is hardly an indication of ordinary good sense to refer to a few crippled and infirm men who served their country, when it wanted their services, as a mob of pensioners.

Michael Clark, Decatur, Ill.

The above gentleman lives about three miles out of this city. He has been an interesting man to John Morrow, who is head of the John Morrow & Co., Springfield, Ohio, concern. This company manufactures several proprietary medicines, among which are Morrow's Kidney-cure. It is well known of such a large concern, and it is known anything about anyone using their remedies. In this case Mr. Morrow himself chanced to be in Decatur when Mr. Clark procured a box of Kidney-cure at Armstrong Bros. As Mr. Morrow inquired about his condition he related it, and added, "I have been a sufferer for years and taken many different kinds of remedies. This, said Mr. Morrow, is what we want. A man who has tried everything, then when he finds the 'spring of youth' he realizes it at once. Later a resident called upon Mr. Clark at his home to inquire into the result, which is here given.

"I have been troubled with my kidneys since 1887. Since then I have suffered untold misery, to say nothing of the hundreds of dollars I have spent to be cured. I have doctored and doctored but still had the disease and suffering. I had to go right to bed time and time again, and lost many days from my work when perhaps I was needed the most. I heard of Kidney-cure, and like a drowning man ready to grasp at a straw, grabbed them. It has proven to be the happiest grab I ever made. Instead of the manufacturers making all claims, and having nothing to back it, they say little, but mean every word. I was told Kidney-cure but three days when I got relief. Think of this, a man in my condition, just ready to give up. I truly believe I was very nearly gone when I first got them and could not have held out much longer. I have now used three boxes and am next door to being cured. I am a new man in every way, or in fact, my old self again before I was taken ill. I am so earnestly interested in this remedy that I shall be glad to personally interview anyone who wishes to come to me or answer all mail inquiries to those who send a stamped envelope with address." Mr. Clark, a man can say more than Mr. Clark, or feel deeper interest in suffering humanity, we want to see him. Has any manufacturer of a like remedy made such an offer of good faith with their patients? Mr. Clark used to be an old railroad man on the Wabash where he was an engineer. His many friends who read this will be glad to know their old comrade is well again. Armstrong Bros. 50 cents, or if not to be had in your locality, by mail from John Morrow & Co., Springfield, Ohio.

WOES OF THE MOTORMAN.

"Crossing-Dashers" Are to Him the Most Nerve-Trying of Citizens.

"These here crossing dashers will be the death of me yet," grumbled a trolley car motorman, as he gave the crank a vicious twist. "What are they, did ye say? Why, those undecided folks that stand waiting for the car to pass until its just beginning to move, and then give a plunge and barely clear the safety net. See that woman? She's the worst kind of a crossing dasher. I know her because she's given me palpitation of the heart more times than I've fingers and toes. When I stopped a minute ago she came walking up to the corner and stood there, looking kind of resigned, as if she was really waiting for me to go by. There was time enough for a whole regiment to crawl across on their hands and knees, but she never budged an inch until I had turned on the current and the wheels were just beginning to move, and then she made a dive that nearly scared me to death.

"What makes them do it? I dunno. They seem to be working up their courage and get it to the sticking point at about the same time we get through waiting. They are the plagues of the business, but I think I broke one crossing dasher of the habit a few days ago. He was a middle-aged man, very respectable looking, and very timid, yet he'd take chances right along that were worse than San Juan hill. At last I got tired of having my nerves jolted that way, and, besides, I didn't want his blood on my wheels, so I lay for him. Next time he came to the crossing I watched him out of the corner of my eye and started up real slow with my hand on the lever.

"He gathered himself together, glared around, like they all do, and made his rush, but the minute he did it I reversed the motor, rang the gong about 100 times and yelled at the top of my voice. You ought to have seen that dasher! He was so scared and bewildered that he turned around like a top and scooted first one way and then another, right in front of the fender, until I thought I'd split laughing. If I hadn't stopped the car he'd have been killed sure. His plug hat fell off in the mud, and he dropped a lot of books he was carrying, and never stopped sprinting until he tripped over a rail and sat down hard enough to make a mole in the street. When I helped him up he told me I was his preserver and began clawing for his wallet, but I stopped him and said no, I'd only done my duty, and that, kind sir, is reward enough. Great speech, wasn't it? I read it in a paper. It's what the hero says when he—yes, that's your street. Tell you the rest another time. Well, good-by."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

CURIOSITY AND IMITATION.

They Lead a Crowd of People in Chicago to Chase an Innocent Boy.

A man has only to stare blankly into space for a single instant on the streets of Chicago to attract the attention of two or three curious pedestrians, who direction and endeavor to discover the cause of the original interest. They in turn are joined by clusters of others, who readily forget their business and pleasures in order to form part of the ever-widening group of curious gazers. If a woman stops to pick up a pin, fearful if she neglects that sacred practice that her luck will depart for the day, the spot on the sidewalk where the pin lay will immediately be subjected to the minutest scrutiny and the surrounding territory will be examined as carefully as if it contained hidden treasures.

A small boy almost started a panic one crowded Saturday noon downtown by running as fast as he could for a block on State street from Washington north to Randolph in order to make a fast train to reach the football field in time for the Saturday game. State street was unusually crowded even for Saturday noon, and everyone, seeing the boy run as if a policeman was after him, started in pursuit. They followed him north on State to Randolph, then east as fast as they could fly to Michigan avenue.

The chase was a wildly exciting game of fox and geese, but the boy eluded all pursuers, as he was able to dodge cable cars and wagons with the agile facility of a youngster. Totally unconscious of the crowd in pursuit, he dashed breathlessly north on Michigan avenue and through the turnstiles of the railroad station just in time to catch the train.

If he had only turned around he would have been able to turn the laugh on a crowd of crestfallen human beings, who pretended they were looking vainly for the shadows they had been unwittingly chasing.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Manila Pawnshop.

There is in Manila a savings institution and public pawnshop, which is practically under the control of the church. It is called the "Monte de Piedad." It was established to make loans to the poor people and has done a good work during the few years it has been in existence. It has been fairly successful and has proved to be a source of profit to those who are interested in it.—Chicago Record.

A Mountain of Lava.

Lava streams that have flowed out of Vesuvius during the last three years have deposited 105,000,000 cubic meters of lava on the side of the mountain. A cone of lava 330 feet high has been formed, out of which fresh streams are flowing.—N. Y. Journal.

Queer Wedding Gifts.

Every guest at a Norwegian wedding brings the bride a present. In many parts a keg of butter is the usual gift, and if the marriage takes place in winter, salted or frozen meat is offered.—N. Y. Sun.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Mi-canopy (Ill.) Hustler, with his wife and children suffered terribly from La Grippa. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippa, and its exhausting after effects. Never fail. H. W. Bell, N. L. Krone, C. F. Shilling, East End Drug Store.

UNFILTERED WATER.

Said to Have Caused Over 5,000 Deaths in Thirty-Five Cities in 1898.

If some fierce barbaric horde, like the Goths and Vandals of old, were in the habit of swooping down every year upon the civilized regions of North America, killing your people by tens of thousands and wounding from 50,000 to 100,000 more, all for lack of adequate defenses, which would cost a few beggarly millions of dollars, what a howl of indignation there would be! How the press and platform, and even the pulpit, would ring with denunciations of the criminally apathetic authorities who permitted such an unnecessary sacrifice! Yet would such a needless loss in battle be any more deplorable or any more criminal than permitting the death or serious injury annually of the same number of people by the many diseases which we now know to be preventable? A rough calculation, based upon statistics given in a new book by John W. Hill, shows that typhoid alone in the year 1896 caused upward of 5,000 deaths in 35 American and Canadian cities, saying nothing of the deaths from the same cause in the smaller towns and country places. For every fatal case there were at least four that recovered, which would make 20,000 condemned to a long and trying illness, with persisting ill health in many of them, and there must, in fact, have been a considerably larger proportion of recoveries under our improved modern methods of treatment.

But the striking one might even say startling fact demonstrated by Mr. Hill's book is that the death rate from typhoid fever, instead of ranging from 22 to 64 in each 100,000 of population, as it did in Philadelphia from 1890 to 1896, or from 31 to 160 in each 100,000, as in Chicago during the same period, need not be over 4 or 5 in the 100,000, if only our municipalities could be governed on business principles, with the help of the best sanitary science.

The proof is to be found in the effects of a thorough system of sand filtration of public water supplies in a number of European cities. For instance, in Berlin the mortality from typhoid has, by such filtration, been so reduced that in each of the years 1895 and 1896 it was 5, while in 1894 it was only 4, in every 100,000 of the population. In Amsterdam the rate was 19 in 1890, and came down to 3 in 1896. In Hamburg the proportion was 28 in the 100,000 in 1890, but an epidemic of cholera compelled the institution of radical measures for the purification of the polluted Elbe water (which, however, as the typhoid death rate shows, was not half as filthy as the Schuylkill river water furnished to Philadelphia), and, in consequence, the typhoid rate in 1896 had fallen to 6 in the 100,000.

But lest the thrifty governing bodies of those American cities whose inhabitants are still obliged to drink diluted sewage should use these figures in support of the adoption of some one of the various mechanical filters which are being actively exploited in this country, it is proper to add a few more statistics. In Atlanta, Ga., the typhoid death rate was 151 in 1890, and, in spite of the operation of a mechanical filter, had not been reduced lower than 30 in 1896. In Chattanooga, Tenn., the rate was 145 in 1890, and with the help of a mechanical filter, came down to 60 in 1896—to a rate just 16 times higher than it should be under proper sanitation.—International Medical Magazine.

INAPT QUOTATIONS.

The Widow Spriggins Gave a Pink Tea That Made the Guests Sick.

"I say, Lige, I saw more than 20 'wimmin' goun' up ter the Widder Spriggins' house yesterday. What wuz goin' on up thar?" "Tuh," answered the old man, as he felt in his pocket for his tobacco, "the widder has bin givin' another party. The widder prides herself on bein' right up ter date. Why hit wuz only last month that she read somewhere that pink teas wuz all the rage. So she sent out invitations for a pink tea. She tried ter buy pink tea at all the stores, but she couldn't find any, so she went an' colored some ordinary tea with cochineal, an' hit took the doctor two days ter bring 'em all around."

"But about this yer party yesterday," put in the storekeeper.

"Wul, hit seems hit wuz ter be a quotation party. The widder sent out invites an' on 'em she said that everybody must bring a quotation. 'Wul, they wuz all crazy ter go, but nobody knew what a quotation wuz. Wul, when they wuz all thar an' the widder asked for the quotations, Ik Gant' wife said ez how she wuz sorry but that she had at her last quotation 'jes' before she got the invite, an' Bob Piggans' wife said that she didn't bring any 'cause she didn't know whether the widder wanted them biled or fried."

"Wul, when the widder called upon the schoolmarm she got up an' said: 'The Lord loves a cheerful giver.'"

"Wul, the rest of them thought that she wuz castin' reflections on them, an' that made them mad an' they ain't got over talkin' about hit yet. Hit's kinder discouraged the widder givin' any more fashionable parties."—Los Angeles Times.

Bombarding the Clouds.

In this country experiments have been made in inducing grain upon the arid belts by exploding powder or dynamite. In Australia the minister of agriculture is trying an experiment of exactly an opposite nature. He has sanctioned an appropriation of 66,000 dollars to establish 33 stations for trying the effect of gun-fire in breaking up hail clouds. The army furnishes the guns. The concussion and smoke are expected to affect the atmospheric state of humidity.—N. Y. World.
